

Proud mum to Liam, 15 and Diane, 12, Sau-Yeng has been a parent of the Glen Eira Soccer club since 2015 and part of the Glen Eira community since 2010. She is married to Adrian, who in the past two years has also been volunteering as coach for the under 15 and under 16.

Sau-Yeng holds four master's degrees, including in Finance and Business Administration. She is currently Business Architect Director and Equality Council Lead at Salesforce and has been a strategy and management consultant for the past 17 years, helping various size organisations in matters of governance, performance and growth objectives. She has worked with large organisations such as Telstra, Nab, Monash University and the Government of Victoria, helping them define and execute their strategies and change programs. For example, she has recently helped DJPR (Department of Jobs, Precincts and Regions) to simplify their grant application process that will become a model for the whole of Victoria.

With the entire family involved in different areas of the club, Sau-Yeng wishes to offer her skills and experience in helping the Club in its next phase of development and growth. Sau-Yeng is in particular interested in representing girls and women and helping plan and define the best facilities and programs for all who wish to practice soccer at the club.
